

NABA

NUOVA ACCADEMIA DI BELLE ARTI

IN COLLABORATION WITH

FROM MEMORY TO MATERIAL

CURRENT ARCHAEOLOGY

INTRODUCTION

The competition is based on the archive considered as an artistic place through which you can give visibility and physicality to an old fact, a fiction or a narrative, that is able to underline some of the most important contemporary issues. In this case, the archive has to be considered as a classification and selection of your own or someone else's material or passing documents that take up an aesthetic form and a theoretical value through the artistic or curatorial intervention.

How can an artistic or curatorial project practically put the past at an aesthetic and theoretical level and, therefore, create a story or a time montage aimed at telling and offering a different and not unique viewpoint on history?

What is a document? What is the relationship between different traces?

The competition has to be considered as an invitation to analyse and propose the exposition possibility of the different collected materials rather than a creation of archives. In this way, the Archive is a metaphor of the exposition in general. When an archive is shown, the choice behind the collection and selection of the materials - as well as the will to offer a focus - tackles the recombination possibilities at the visitor's disposal when he/she observes the material. Therefore, this recombination of possibilities leads necessarily to a continuous de-archiviation and rearchiviation executed by the visitor. Starting from the recombination experiments by Nanni Balestrini, the ideas defined by Umberto Eco in the "Opera Aperta" (Open work) up to the exhibition Disobedience Archive cured by Marco Scotini or to the artistic interventions by Meschac Gaba, Eyal Sivan or Antoni Muntadas, the competition invites participants to offer a project idea that deals with current issues by using the material of the recent past (that is often not unique).

PROJECT BRIEF

Students are asked to present a proposal - an exhibition, a material montage, an artistic project in form of collage or merzbau - that, by using the support as an archive, becomes a way to tell, historicize, and describe some of the issues of the current socio-political context. The proposal has to be developed starting from the experience and the work style of the candidate so that the structure and the proposed intervention will highlight his/her specific creative, artistic and curatorial skills.

AUDIENCE

The competition is open to young artists searching for a solid education in the field of visual arts production with a highly specialized curatorial program, with the aim of building the skills of artists and curators starting from the same shared exhibition environment.
